COLUMNS

By the decision of Schmidt and his mentors, control over Bosnia and Herzegovina is divided between Serbia (three quarters) and Croatia (one quarter)

The proposed measures to amend the Election Law by the High Representative increase the violation of human rights of all nationalities in FBiH. Mr. Schmidt announced the measures, I'm paraphrasing: "I will introduce measures that will equally displease all nationalities in Bosnia and Herzegovina" - and he succeeded in that. Only three ethnic political parties HDZ, SDA and SNSD can be satisfied. Politician Saša Magazinović summarized: "As a member of the Serbian nation from Sarajevo, I could not compete for a member of the BiH Presidency until now, and from now on I will not be able to compete for a delegate in the House of Peoples of the PS BiH, where I am currently." Bosniaks and Croats from cantons where their nationality is a minority will have the same fate.

The million dollar question is what the US, the creator of the Dayton Peace Agreement, thinks today and what Mr. Gabriel Eskobar after the meeting with President Milanović? Insisting on respect for human rights has been the main goal of American politics for centuries. However, according to tradition, the USA evaluates the democratic capacities of the opposition based on the principle of whether they are faced with the policy of "get off Kurt, let Murt get on" or with democratic strength. Standard recipes of action do not exist. At the same time, the US supports state administrations and societies that function in the context of traditional political culture. Therefore, the most important interest of the USA is national security, and rights are a key element of internal security.

What does traditional political culture mean - you ask? How is it visible and why is it important for national security? It is visible in the cult places of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and I believe that it is necessary to repeat it.

The youth look to the west

From the human need to explore and explain the world around them, myths were created, which are stories about various phenomena, and the abundance of these stories make up the mythology of each of the ethnic groups (nations) in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Myths can give us explanations for rituals, but rituals can exist outside of myths. Rituals are predictable actions that bring order to events. They can be secular, for example the opening of the Olympic Games, but they are most common in religions. However, the ceremony can also be multi-confessional.

The myth of the millennia-long tradition of religious tolerance and understanding of the other and different in the microspace of today's Bosnia and Herzegovina can give us an explanation for the ritual tour of three cult places in Sarajevo - the Islamic Turbe of the Seven Brothers (Jediler Turbe), the Catholic Church of St. Anthony of Padua and the Old Serbian Orthodox Church of St. Archangels Michael and Gabriel. This confirms the indisputable fact that the area of today's Bosnia and Herzegovina is still a unique place of respect for one God on a global scale. Judaism, Christianity/Christianity, Islam as the world's global dominant religions in the Mediterranean were born elsewhere and no religion on our soil has ever been victorious, and if it intended to be, it became a bully. There is a real danger that this tradition will be lost due to the consequences of the extremely successful ethnic cleansing of the population in the aggressive war of 1992/95. and abuses of the multinational character of Bosnia and Herzegovina in Porać. However, we hope that this conservative tradition will not disappear.

The decision of the High Representative, i.e. his mentors, will of course not be challenged by this argument, but by the animosity of Christian Europe towards the Islamic tradition of the majority Bosniak people, which can be easily argued. The statements of the President of Hungary Orbán about the danger of 2 million autochthonous Muslims for Christian Europe, the persistent calling of Bosniak people Muslims by the member of the Presidency of Bosnia and Herzegovina Dodik, and recently by the President of Hrvatska Milanović, on the instructions of SANU from Belgrade, are well known. It has been insisting for decades on negotiations with political leaders as ethnic chiefs. The announced imposition of changes to the Electoral Law two months before the elections will surely turn into new religious and ethnic fears and inevitable reminders of the fate of the Jews in Europe. Who does this policy fit in the wider global context?

After reaching an agreement in Istanbul

Who else can respond to the announced changes to the Election Law in the FBiH, apart from the mentioned ethnic political parties? Isn't that a kind of message and a guide to Russia for establishing administrative authority in the newly conquered territories in Ukraine and a formula for beheading the countries of Eastern Europe with political blockades by minority ethnic parties? Especially Russia in Ukraine and other bordering countries, but also Serbia in Kosovo, Montenegro and Republika Srpska in BiH, as well as the joint dominance of Serbia and Croatia (of course only temporarily) in the Federation of BiH. Today's aggressive politics, the version of the "Russian world" in Bosnia and Herzegovina must not be rewarded, but rather unmasked and condemned.

I have already written on the subject of such fatal ideas, recalling the conversations in Bled (1994) of the Croatian writer, philosopher and politician Vlade Gotovac with Adil Zulfikarpašić, Ivo Banca, Miko Tripala and Mladen Maloča as moderator of the discussions. At that time, the Croatian historian, writer, politician and polemicist Ivo Banac warned: "The West sees Eastern Europe as a pledge to satisfy Moscow's appetites." Only a radical policy towards the democratization of Russia can be a guarantee that there will be no renewal of imperial ambitions in the East. There is no Yalta at the moment, nor can it be, but there is progress". Vlado Gotovac, who said before his death: "Keep Croatia safe for me from meanness and hatred", remarked: "The regimes in Serbia never considered that Bosnia and Herzegovina should be divided, they were completely convinced that it was theirs. "Greater Serbia" presupposes a small Croatia and it can only be a war border. Only in Bosnia and Herzegovina, not a single idea represents a source of conflict, but forms a unique original whole, which does not interfere with any diversity".

The proposed amendments to the Electoral Law by the High Representative ignore all the judgments of the European Court of Human Rights from Starazbur, they are not in accordance with the traditional culture on the soil of Bosnia and Herzegovina, they are not in the interest of national minorities, which in some parts of the country are being introduced into apartheid, state property is being spent and book as anyone wants and can. It is now abundantly clear that this is a hellish plan to divide Bosnia and Herzegovina and that the orchestrated attacks on High Representative Schmidt, appointed at the very end of Chancellor Angela Merkel's term, were a political show by Russia, Serbia and Republika Srpska for a gullible public. It follows that the proposed amendment to the Electoral Law is also contrary to the interest of the national security of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Publicly reached agreement about Bosnia and Herzegovina 90%

There is no recipe for action. It is necessary to establish a new political practice. Mentors of Mr. Schmidt, with these imposed amendments to the Election Law, are making a mockery of the recent Bundestag Resolution, and the political leaders who oppose the amendments have been driven into mouse holes. Objectively, the post-war divided BiH, according to the ethnic concept, experienced a civilizational collapse. Since the beginning of the modern era in the second half of the 19th century, BiH has never experienced such a socio-political and economic fiasco. Back in the time of the Ottoman Empire, 101.6 km of normal railway track was built, and in the time of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, a network of 1611 km of narrow gauge railway was built. During the Kingdom of Yugoslavia, about 150 km of railways were built, and during the SFR Yugoslavia about 1000 km of modern electrified railways. During the ethnically divided Bosnia and Herzegovina (1995-2022), the railways were not repaired, not a meter of new railway was built, about 1/3 of the planned Vc highway was built, and Bosnia and Herzegovina is the only European country that is not included in the European railway and highway network. The public is deeply disappointed. Instead of reforming the dysfunctional system that gave birth to unprecedented corruption and crime, economic, social and political fiasco, Mr. Schmidt is handing over the "control package" of the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina to criminal ethnic cartels posing as political parties (Esad Bajtal).

The High Representative did not consult the Venice Commission

High Representative Schmidt has gone beyond the scope of the interpreter of the Peace Agreement because he is changing it for the worse. We remember the words of the Austrian diplomat Alois Mock from the war years: "For the first time, a UN member state is erased from the world map by aggression." Said today in other words, after thirty years: For the first time in the history of the world, a country defended in a war, will be on the sure path of disappearance, thanks to the unacceptable political engineering that the government in the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina delivers to the political parties HDZ (of course only temporarily) and SNSD (in Russian and the Serbian world), introduces all the peoples of Bosnia and Herzegovina into apartheid in certain parts of the country, with the cunning help of local quislings.

It did not even occur to Mr. Schmidt and his superiors to consult the Venice Commission, that is, the European Commission for Democracy by Law, which deals with constitutional, electoral and other issues of the operation of democratic institutions. With that act, they disregarded the legal acquis (French acquis communautaire) of the European Union in the most rude way.

Aferim (bravo) for the masters of evil.
